

Of Course, Coexistence Is to Blame

A deconstruction of the narratives that fuel our conflicts.

The Violence We've Come to Expect

On ~~December 13, 2025~~, a man with a gun killed two students at Brown University. The tragedy wouldn't even be global news because shootings are a tradition in the United States.

Mass murderers have tended to be supporters of the supremacist right, but it is they who blame diversity for all the ills of their societies.

“Fear is big business.”

The Scapegoat Is Named Immediately

A massacre occurs in Sydney's Jewish community during Hanukkah—a rarity in Australia since a 1996 ban on semi-automatic rifles.

Social media immediately floods with anti-Islam explanations.

“Welcome to the new multicultural and diverse Australia.”

The Simplistic Logic of the Powerful

A common trait of “successful entrepreneurs”: displaying wealth as proof of intelligence while spreading simplistic ideas to millions of followers.

“Welcome to the new multicultural and diverse Australia.”

Elon Musk declares: “If you have a uterus, you are a woman. Otherwise, you are not.”

This logic automatically turns all women who had to have their uteruses removed to save their lives into transsexuals.

A pattern of powerful figures using flawed, reductionist arguments that appeal to an uneducated base.

If Culture Is the Problem, What Explains This?

The Argument: A Ukrainian student blames multiculturalism for Europe's problems.

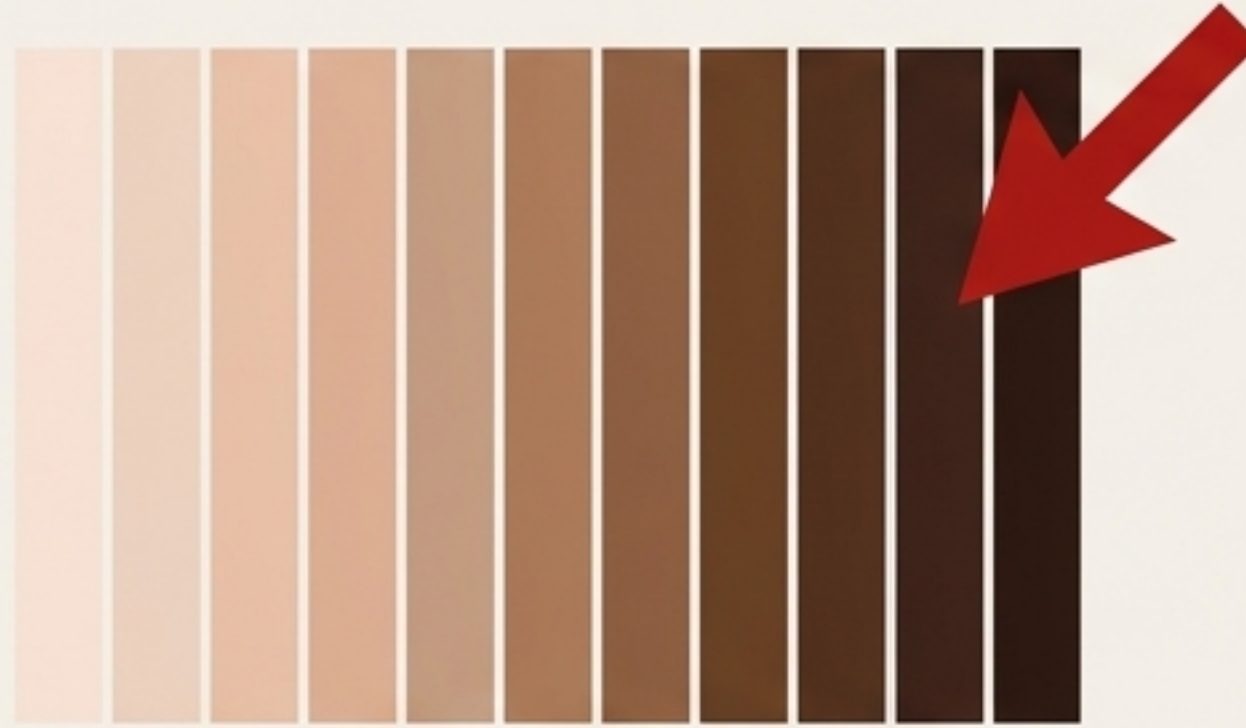

The Rebuttal: "Russians and Ukrainians speak the same language, share a history and, basically, the same culture, and they are killing each other."

Could it be that the problem lies elsewhere, such as in economic and power interests, the old drivers of wars and genocides?

The Problem Isn't Culture. It's Color.

Could it be that the problem perceived by those who are against diversity is skin color? Why are non-Caucasians always the problem?

This contrasts with colonialism, where "white people devoted themselves to assaulting, destroying, and massacring the rest of the world" under the banner of bringing civilization.

Referring to countries of the South as "shithole countries" while asking to accept people from Norway, Sweden, or Denmark.

Coexistence Is Not a New Idea. It Is an Ancient Reality.

The now demonized multiculturalism is as old as the domestication of fire.

Trade, cultural exchange, and technological progress have always depended on diversity.

Introducing the counter-narrative, starting with the Kingdom of Nri.

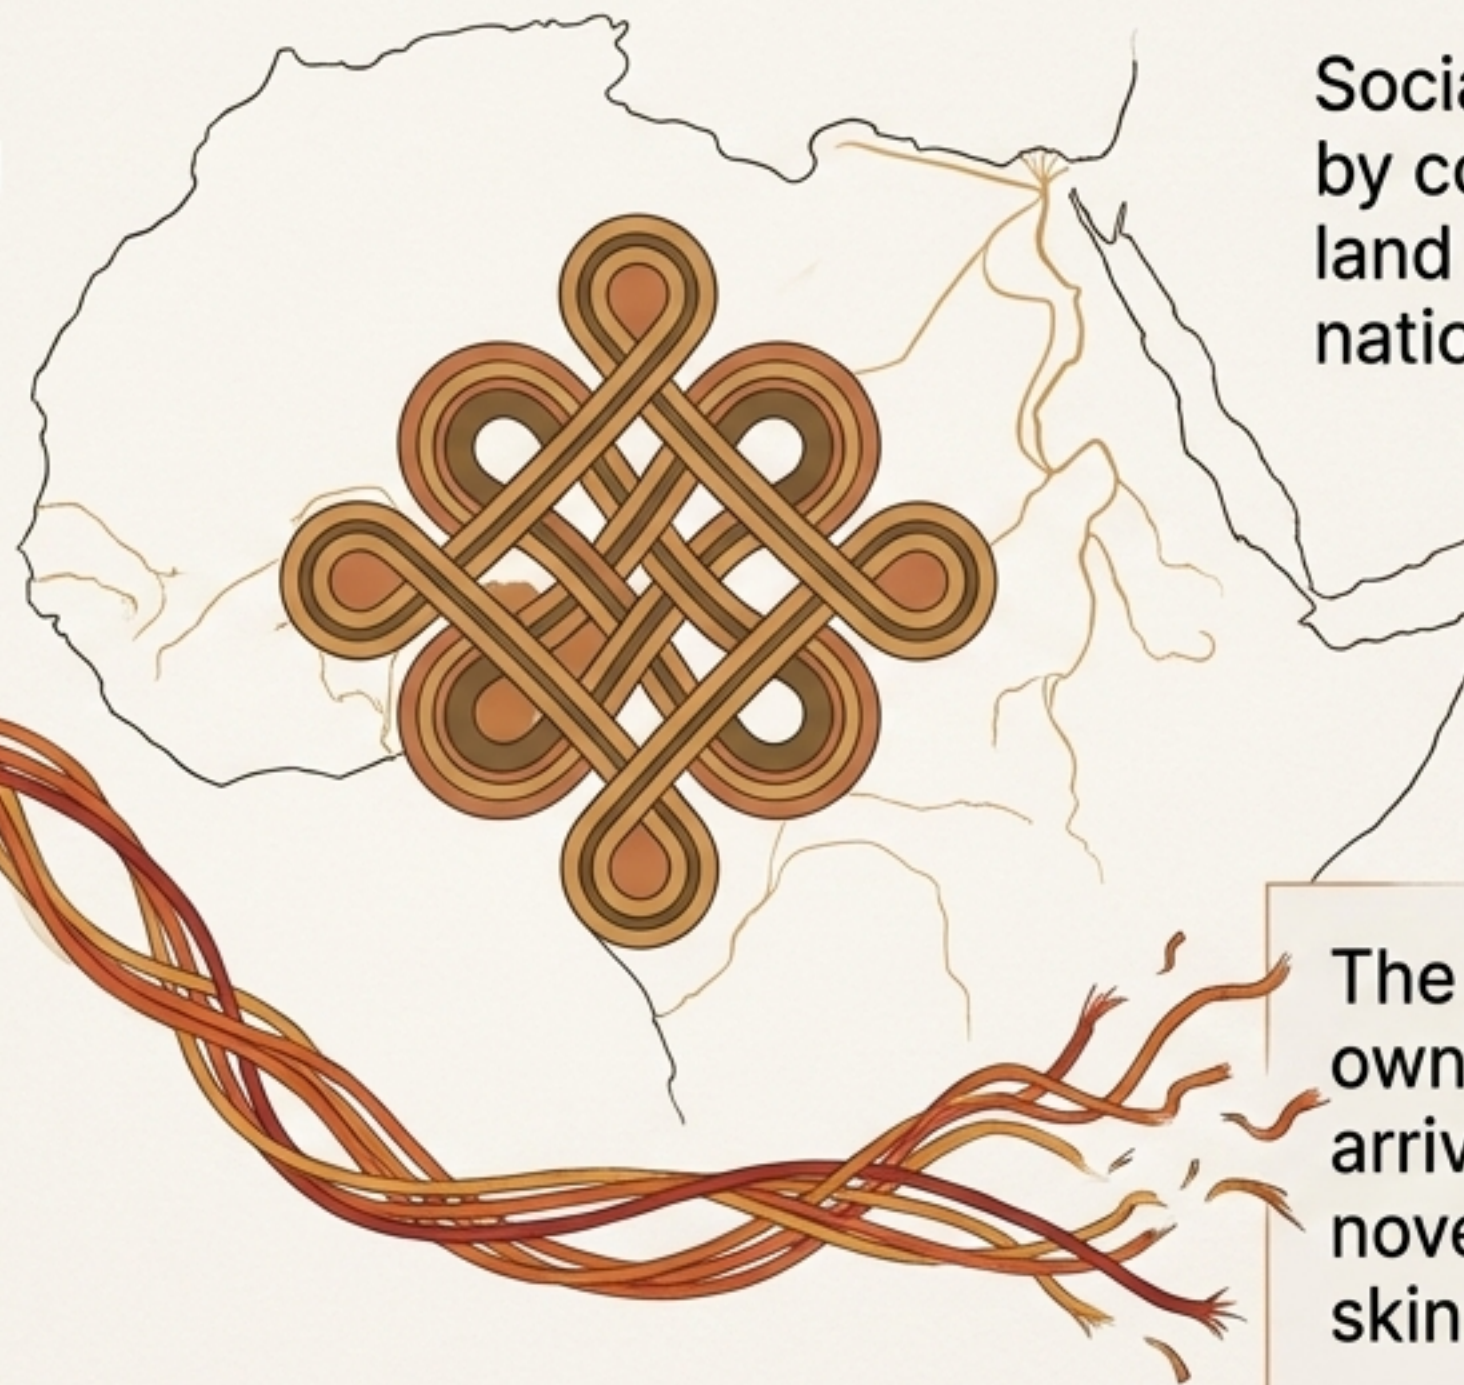

A Thousand Years of Peace: The Kingdom of Nri

Location & Timeframe: In modern-day Nigeria, achieved almost a thousand years of coexistence from the 10th century until the European slave trade.

Social Structure: Highlighted by communal ownership of land and intense trade with nations as far away as Egypt.

Core Principles: Based on “peace, truth, and harmony,” sharing the Ubuntu philosophy’s collective conception of the individual.

The Downfall: Its communal ownership ended with the arrival of Europeans and the novel slave trade based on skin color.

The Open Societies of the First Americans

Focus: The Great Peace League of North America (Iroquois).

Practices of Inclusion: They adopted foreigners from all cultures and languages, including Europeans, who often did not want to return to “civilization”.

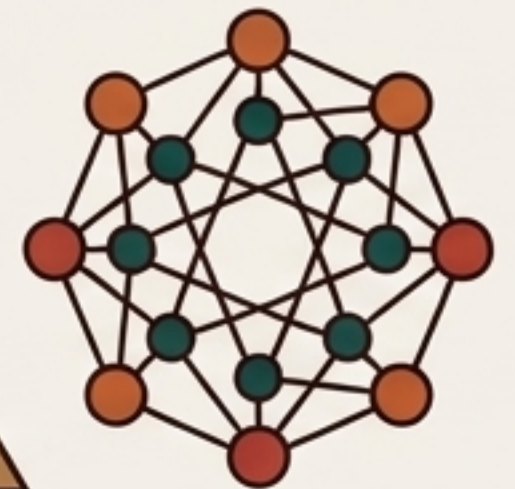

Gender Diversity: Native diversity also included members of different genders (men and women “of two spirits”).

For centuries, they defeated technologically superior European armies not because of their arrows but because of their superior social organization.

We Are Free. You Submit to Anything.

We are free. We are not desperate to be rich, nor do we obey the orders of our leaders when they do not convince us. You submit to anything: kings, captains, priests...

Flourishing in a Mosaic of Faiths

- Third Example: The Arab Empire, which lasted for several centuries.
- Evidence of Coexistence: Jews, Christians, and Muslims coexisted, prospered, and multiplied for centuries...
- The Result: ...leading to one of the most outstanding civilizations in science, rational analysis, and technology.

The Exceptional Brutality of the Modern World

No one can say that in these centuries of coexistence there were no conflicts, wars, and brutalities, because that is a chronic ailment of the human species.

But if we compare realities, we can say that our contemporary world has stood out for its exceptional brutality. World wars, the atomic bombs, and imperial dictatorships imposed by the “sacrificed white man.”

“We can never forgive the Arabs for forcing us to kill their children.”

– Golda Meir

There Is More Than One Kind of Hatred

Slaves hated their masters for what they did.

Masters hated their slaves for what they were.

It is one thing to hate for what one is and another to hate for what one does.

The Paradox of Our Protection

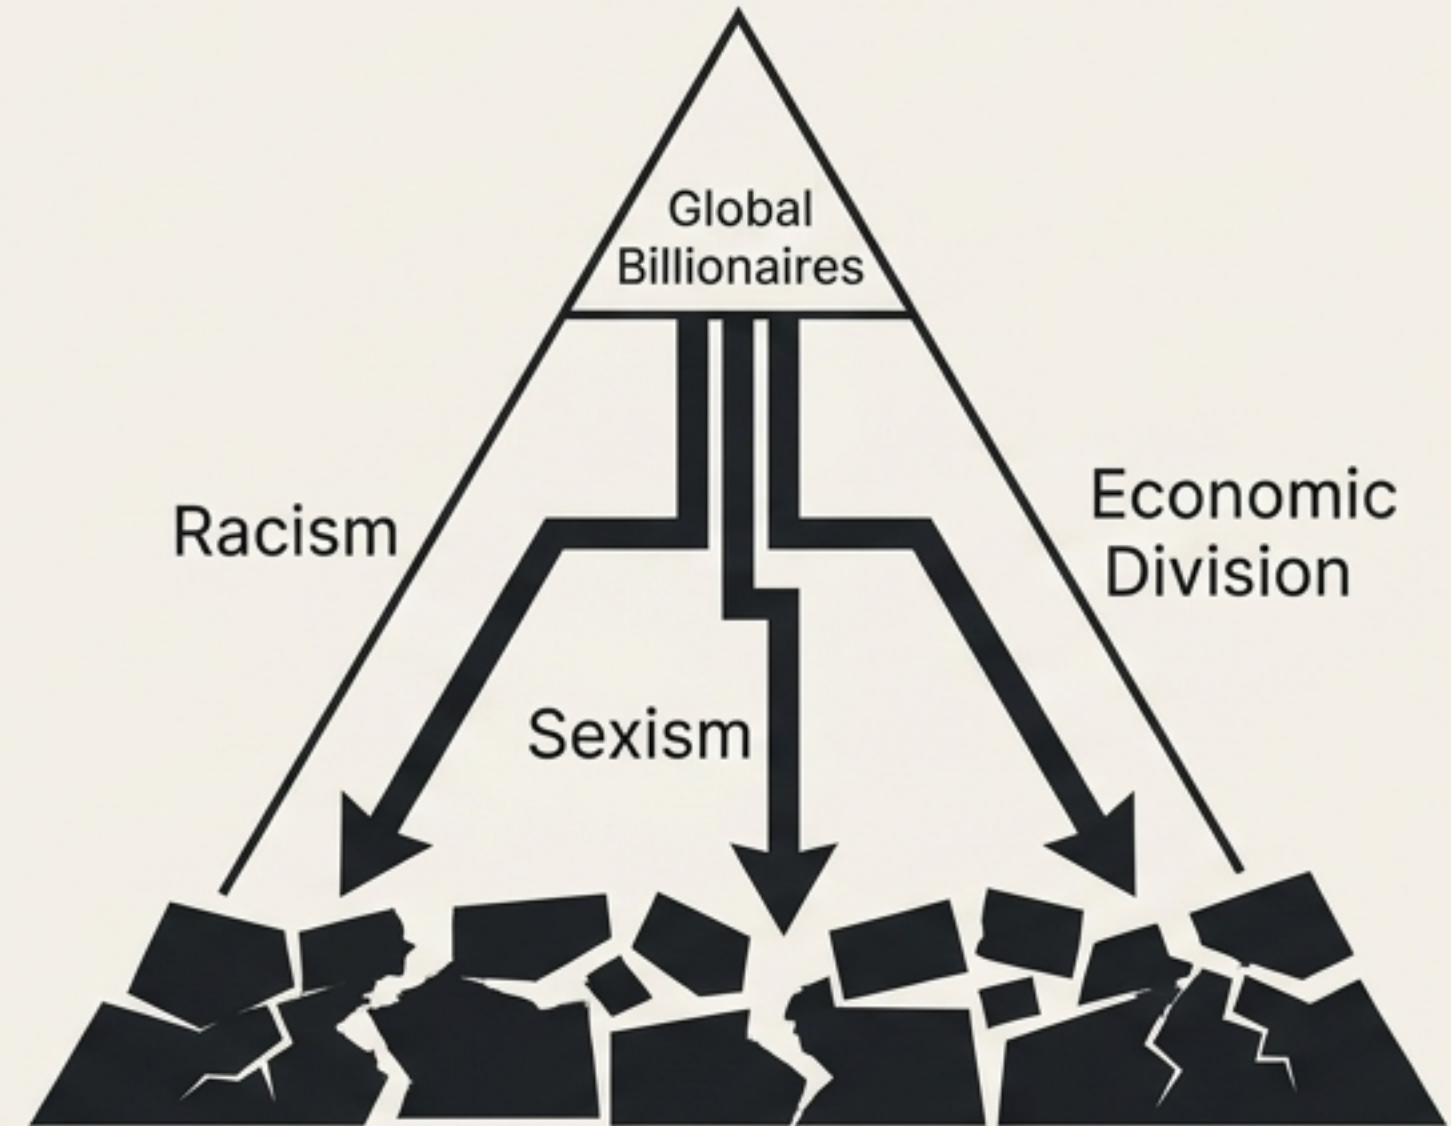

If there is a problem with the ancient culture and morality of diversity and tolerance, it is that racists who promote civil and imperial violence are protected by the law.

In fact, we reward them.

The Real Drivers of Conflict

Otherwise, it would be impossible to understand why the sect of global billionaires is racist, sexist, and hates the poor, whom they divide and parasitize every day.

Fear has always been big business.
